The Mayor issued a proclamation this afternoon calling upon citizens to meet tonight for the purpose of passing suitable resolutions and making arrangements for the care of people that will be pres-ent during the funeral. Barshferd, of Ohio Wesleyan University, at Delaware, will conduct the services and the local G.A.R. will probably have simple ceremonies. Gen. To the people of the United States: The death of Rutherford B. Hayes, who was President of the United States from March event the announcement of which will be received with very general and very sincere sorrow. His public service extended overy many years and over a wide range of official duty. He was a patriotic citizen, a lover of the flag and of our free institutions, an industrious and conscientious civil officer, a soldier of dauntless courage, a loyal comrade and friend, a sympathetic and helpful neighbor, and the honored head of a happy Christian home. He has steadily grewn in public esteem, and the impartial historian will not fail to recognize the conscientiousness, manliness and courage so strongly characteristic of his whole public career. lic career.

As an expression of public sorrow, it is ordered that the executive mansion and executive departments at Washington be draped in mourning and the flags thereon be placed at half-staff for a period of thirty days, and that on the day of the funeral all public business of the departments be suspended, and that military and naval honors, under orders of the Secretaries of War and the Navy be ordered on that day.

EULOGIZED BY MANY. While the knowledge of ex-President Haves's serious iliness somewhat pre pared Senators and Representatives here for the sad news of his death, still it came with a shock to many of those who had known him intimately and were hopeful of his ability to resist the last attack. Senator Sherman, perhaps, was more intimately acquainted with the ex-President than any other Senator, and, as a member of his cabinet, was officially associated with his administration. He was deeply moved, and, after the Senate adjourned at his motion, said: "I knew him as well, perhaps, as any one can know another. He was always a fair and just friend and foe, and, sometimes, failed to say 'No' when it would have been better for him to have done so, because of his disposito have done so, because of his disposition to oblige everyone. The South should feel proudly grateful to him, for, with infinite courage, he extended to the white men of that section the opportunity to reorganize their States at a time when they had been bitterly unjust to him. The death of Hayes mes to me like a sudden blow. believe he was as well prepared for death as human nature of as to be?!

Senator Brice spice very feelingly of Hayes, whom he knew well. "I will, at the proper time," said he, "pay my tribute to the worth of Mr. Hayes as a citizen and public official. As a death as human nature will permit any man, citizen and public official. As a Democrat I criticised with much hate and great feeling the conduct and course of affairs by which he became course of affairs by which he became President, but the warmth and kindliness, fairness and tenderness of the ex-President was such that I was never able to feel any sense of resentment against him individually. I can now see that his administration as President softened the asperities growing out of the civil war, and led to that perfect union, the blessings of which we are now enjoying."

The news of the death of ex-President Hayes was received quietly by the members of the House. The members of the Ohio del egation, nearly every one of whom was personally acquainted with the ex-President, spoke kindly of him. In voicing the sentiment of the Democrats of Onio toward Hayes, Representative Outhwaite (Dem.) said "The Democrats of Ohio always regarded him as a conscientious man, a patriotic man, and as a man devoted to the interests of his State and country.? Representative Dugan (Dem.) said: "Hayes was popular in Ohio. The Democrats never blamed him personally for the result in 1876. He did no more than Tilden. They both permitted their respective party friends to work the matter out, and I do not think any blame attaches in the minds of Democrats toward Mr. Hayes personally. He was a nonlar man, a particit the interests of his State and country." ally. He was a popular man, a patriot in war and a patriot in peace and loved the whole Union.' Representative Caldwell said that there was deep regret among Ohio Republicans. Mr. Hayes's career was one of the most remarkable of any pubone of the most remarkable of any public man in the country.

Mr. Burrows of Michigan said:

"President Hayes deserves and will hold an honorable place in the history of this country. In civil and military life he discharged every trust with fidelity and when corrected as required exity and, when occasion required, exhibited reserved power and courage equal to any emergency.' A NEWSPAPER'S TRIBUTE. The Evening Star pays this tribute D. C. Reed of San Diego.

The Evening Star pays this tribute to the ex-President:

That a great man died when Rutherford B. Hayes breathed his last cannot be questioned. He was not a brilliant man, but one in whom there were qualities far more desirable than that ephemeral something which captivates the thoughtless and moves the multitude to unmeaning applause. Underlying every public act of the ex-President was solid principle. So far as the people were permitted glimpses into his home life, the same principle seems to have controlled his private affairs. Those who pride themselves on being practical politicians may have but feeble commendation for his administration as Chief Magistrate, but their faint praise cannot affect his character nor is it in the power of man to undo the great good he undoubtedly accomplished. Thrice elected Governor of Ohio, he failed in no duty that promised to exalt the commonwealth that gave him high honors in return for brainy devotion. As a member of the House of Representatives he was a firm friend of all that were honest and true. As President of the United States—inaugurated after the most memorable election struggle in the Nation's history—he set his face against all manner of wrong and gave unflinching encouragement to labors of charity and political right eousness. That such course should result in superficial unpopularity was to be expected, but time will bring justice. to the ex-President:

the Bar of the Assembly-Carlson Fails to Get in on Time. By Telegraph to The Times. SACRAMENTO, Jan. 18.-[Special.] Stephen M. White of Los Angeles was today elected United States Senator, receiving 61 out of 119 votes cast, Burke, the non-partisan, of San Francisco and J. Kerns of Los Angeles, a Democrat and Populist, voted with the fifty-nine Democrats, while McGowan of San Francisco, a Republican, was absent.

The Senate filed into the Assembly chamber promptly at 11:40, and, Lieut. Gov. Reddick taking the chair, the two houses immediately went into joint session for the purpose of electing five library trustees. After a great deal of skirmishing the Democratic caucus nominees, Messrs. Lindley, Leake, Gardner, Baldwin and Green were elected by the aid of Republican votes. The Republicans and Populists had united on a ticket, on which was the name of E. M. Wardall of Monrovia. Populists supported the fusion ticket almost unanimously, while Senator Mahoney of San Francisco and Assemblymen Miller Alameda, Raw of Eldorado and Thomas of Nevada voted the Demo-cratic ticket in whole or in part. Bledsoe of Humboldt voted a ticket of his own, which, when the result was announced, was designated "scattering." Twice during the above proceedings did the Speaker order the clock set back. and when the joint convention adjourned the clock was 45 minutes hind. This was "first blood" for the

THE FUN BEGINS. The joint convention then immediitely reconvened, and, after much red tape, proceeded with the election of a United States Senator to succeed Hon. Charles N. Felton. Much anxiety was caused by the non-appearance of Senator Goucher of Fresno, who was on the programme to make the principal speech in nominating White. was seriously ill, and was in the library. White's mother, who was sitting in the aisle, wept at this allusion to her honored son, The other nominating and seconding speeches were not above the ordinary Allusions to Blaine and Cleveland elicited cheers, and when Bretz of Ala meda nominated Cator the few Populists in the gallery allowed themselves to be heard from. CARLSON'S DRAMATIC EFFORT. Carlson of San Diego made the most sensational effort of the day. His schoolboy manner of declamation, together with his wild gesticulation, caused much laughter among the audience. He said he wore no collar, and was not labelled; that the report that he had sold himself to the Democrats was false, and that the illusion that the Democrats were in a majority was misleading. The fight was not begun yet, he said, but he presented one could harmonize all conflcting factions in victory. "How," he asked dramat ically, "can I vote for White, when that gentleman, before election, asked my constituents to vote against me?" This was a clincher, and was answered by the audience with much laughter.

Thus encouraged, he brought his effort to a climax by naming as his candidate MISSING M'GOWAY. After the nominations were closed it became voiced about that Assemblyman McGowan of San Francisco, a Republican, was absent, and Carlson and others loudly called for a call of the house before the vote was proceeded with. Carlson loudly proclaimed that this was no time for skulkers. On a yea and nay vote the motion was lost-80 to 59. The Populists voted with the Republicans. BURKE VOTES FOR WHITE. The roll was then called, and when Burke, in a loud voice, voted for Stephen M. White the wild scene of the previous day was repeated, but when Kern's name was reached, and he answered "White," the noise was terrific. Hats went up, and members stood in their seats and yelled themselves hoarse. This continued for several minutes. Then the Democrats who had voted and the various correspondents rushed out to the telegraph office to inform their constituents and the newspapers that the battle was practically over.

BRETZ BELLOWS FRAUD. The ballot proceeded without any noticeable feature until the last name was called, when Bretz of Alameda arose and announced that he wished to change his vote, and wanted to explain his reasons for doing so. "The Populists," he said, "had agreed to stand together to the last, but one of our men has deserted us, and this change has been bought, and said that, so far as Last, chairman John W. Mitchell.

While this was being done Vann the Colusa Populist, arose to a question of privilege, and, in behalf of himself and the rest of the Populist members, disclaimed any responsibility for Bretz's conduct. Bretz's words were now read He Will Be Given a Chance to Explain

Stephen M, White was then declared elected United States Senator, and was escorted to the Speaker's desk by a committee of five, among whom were Assemblymen Burke and Finlayson. There was wild cheering during White's speech, in which he took occasion to denounce as unqualifiedly false charges made by Bretz. He said that he knew Cannon to be perfectly honest and honorable; and Kerns, an equally honorable man, had been his (White's) personal friend for eighteen years. He ended by promising to use his best endeavors to promote the welfare and in Brief and Authentic Sketch of Stephen M.

White Life.

Stephen Mallory White was born in San Francisco on the 19th of January, 1853.
His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Willlam F. White, landed in San Francisco in 1849, after a six months' trip from New York around Cape Horn. In September, 1853, after having merchandised in San Francisco for about three years, and having sustained severe losses by reason of ing sustained severe losses by reason of the great fires which devastated the methe great fires which devastated the me-tropolis at that period, Mr. White, Sr., moved his family to Pajaro Valley, Santa Cruz county, where they resided for nearly twenty-five years. Stephen was taught at home and at private and public schools until he reached the age of 15 years, when he and his elder brother Edward, who is now a prominent citizen in Santa Cruz county, were sent to St. Ignatius College, San Francisco, and from thence to Santa Clara Francisco, and from thence to Santa Clara College. At the age of 18 Stephen graduated and thereupon commenced the study of law with Judge A. W. Blair, who is now a resident of Los Angeles city, and finished his legal training in the city of Santa Cruz under the guidance first of Judge Hagan and afterward of C. B. Younger, Esq. He was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court at the age of 21 years, in April 1874. In November of the same year he commenced practicing in Los Angeles city where he has ever since resided. In 1873 Mr. White was nominated upon an inde-pendent ticket for District Attorney of this county, and although he ran largely ahead of his ticket, he was defeated. In 1876 he took a prominent part in the Tilden cam paign in the interest of the Democrati-ticket. This also was the case in 1878 In the election of 1879 he did not pratici-pate in State politics. It is presumed that he did not interfere because of the fact that his father was a candidate upon the Workingmen's ticket for Governor, and he did not believe that that organization could accomplish any of the purposes for which it was formed. In 1880 he was a delegate to the Democratic State Convention at Oakto the Democratic State Convention at Oakland, taking active part in the proceedings of that body. In 1882 he nominated George Stoneman for Governor, at San José, and canvassed the State vigorously in suppor of his favorite, and in the same year he was elected District Attorney of this county, receiving the largest vote of any candidate upon any ticket. In 1884 he presided over the famous Stockton convention, and upon this occasion public attention was first directed to him as a presiding officer. In 1886 he was chairman of the convention before which Gov. Bartlett was nominated, and was subsequently a successful aspirant for the State Senatorship of the Thirty-eighth District, his opponent being Hon. Henry T. Hazard. In 1888 he was chairman of the Committee on Resolutions of the State Convention, and was elected a delegate to the Democratic National Convention, running ahead of all other aspirants. He was chosen as the temporary presiding officer of the St. Louis convention, and conducted the proceedings of that body as its chairman for a large portion of the period covered by its husiness. In 1890 he made the question of the election of Senators by direct vote of the people a leading one, and his speech before the San José convention upon the subject of the Senatorial indorsement attracted widespread and favorable comment. He vigorously advocated the Democratic ticket, and especially criticised Senator State of the Democratic minority of that Legislature for the Senatorship. During the last campaign Mr. White was very active in the interests of the Democratic party, and, representing that organization, he engaged in a debate upon the tariff with Hon. M. M. Estee, who chaimploned the Republican side of the question.

Mr. White is related upon his father's side to Congressman W. Bourke Cockran and upon his mother's side to Congressman Stephen R. Mallory, Jr. land, taking active part in the proceedings of that body in 1882 he nominated

The Trial of De Lesseps and Others Nearing a Close.

How the Canal Conspirators Forwarded Their Nefarious Scheme Under the Clock of Religion-Clemen ceau Implicated,

By Telegraph to The Times. PARIS. Jan. 18 .- By Cable and Asso ciated Press.] Republicans, ignoring personal differences, are rallying to the cause of the government. states that he will not associate himself with a campaign designed to provoke a Presidential crisis. This sentiment i generally expressed by other prominent men whom the reactionists had hoped to attract to their side through motives of personal ambition. The detection of royalist plotting at home, and the increasing interest taken in French affairs abroad have served to weaken the hold of the Panama scandal on the public mind, and the enemies of the government also find the public more and more incredulous in view of the earnest prosecution of De Lesseps and his associates, and of the assertion that Pres ident Carnot and the Ministry have nothing to conceal.

In view of the developments at the trial attention has been called to the part which Ferdinand de Lesseps got he clergy to take in helping the scheme which, heretofore, had almost escaped observation. De Lesseps and his whole family went prominently to high mass at the Madeleine all the time the bubble was being blown. The christening of each of the successive children of the family was not a less public event, and family was not a less public event, and was celebrated by special license. A prelate was in one instance asked to be the godfather. Speculation in Panama options, it is said, went on at the Vatican. A marquise who left to the Pope a mansion in the Place de la Concorde, was advised by a priestly counsellor to convert her offering of f.40,000 a year to the Peter's Pence fund into Panama paper. The adviser got a heavy percentage on the transaction of course the company was expected to Of course the company was expected to pay heavily and answered to the expectation. Every priest who got one of his flock to take a bond or share got a commission. The run of priests on the Panama offices was so great that arrangements were being made for a special office and secretary to them, when the collapse came.

De Lesseps sept out in a most sensational way brigades of sisters of char-ity to the hospital at the canal works. ity to the hospital at the canal works. An appeal was one night made through a religious paper to the zeal and devo-tion of the Daughters of St. Vincent de Paul. The next day there were thirtyeight volunteers who were taken to St. Nazaire the day after to embark. The eyes of the Catholic world of France were for an hour rivited on the poor heroines, who were then forgot-ten until another brigade of volunteers was needed, for yellow fever no more spared them than other whites on the isthmus in the unhealthy season. A call was once made for chaplains, but not with so much success.

It has been claimed in connection with the deputies accused of corruption in the Panama affair, that, as all leged, the corruption took place in 1888, on the occasion of the passage of the lottery loan by Parliament. A clause of the penal code punishes with civil degradation all public functionaries guilty of venality.

CLEMENCEAU IMPLICATED.

The first witness before the parlia mentary commission today was M. Stephane, clerk in the service of Baron de Reinach's partner, M. Popper. He said M. Reinach left him a list of persons comprised in the distribution Panama money. Among the names on the list are those of Arena. Deves Grevy, Roche, Dugue de la Foucon-naire, Rouvier, Floquet, Proust, Re-nault, Barbe, Berall and Thevenet. Several names were repeated on the list as men indicated received Panama money more than once. The whole list contained the names of more than 100 deputies, who had been beneficiaries of the Panama fund. The sums paid these men varied between f.1000 and f. 300,000 each. M. Stephane said that he gave the list to M. Clemenceau, who, he thought, could make the best use of it.

Considerable questioning on the part of Chairman Brissonet elicited many additional facts, which show that M. Stephane had in his possession a list Stephane had in his possession a list similar to the one photographed for M. Andrieux. M. Stephane was requested to wait in the committee-room while M. ## SMOOTH OPERATORS.

A Couple of Employment Agents in Trouble.

Arrested on a Charge of Obtaining Money by False Pretenses.

The Queer Story Told by a Young Woman at the Police Station.

Persecuted by an Old Man Who Says She Owes Him Money-A Chinese Laundryman in a Bad Box-Petty Offenders.

For many months past the police have been annoyed from time to time with complaints of the crooked work indulged in by unreliable employment agents scattered about the city, and who have been such a nuisance, not only to those seeking employment, but to the reliable firms engaged in the business. These smooth operators have a way of listing many openings for peo ple of all occupations, and always seem to be able, without the least delay, to "place" any and all who apply to them for assistance in securing employment. It happens, however, that they invariably exact a fee from those seeking their help before sending them out to fill the places. It also happens that nearly all of the declared openings are at some remote locality in the country and when the applicant arrives there he finds that no such place awaits him, and that no one of the name given him resides in the neighborhood. He then is left not unfrequently without money, and no means of getting back to the city except by footing it, and so the wily agent can rest easy, with the reasonable assurance that his victim will not turn up and make trouble. The great difficulty which the police have experienced in these cases heretofore is to find any one of the unfortunate subjects who was willing to swear to a complaint upon which the swindlers might be arrested. One of the last, however, Daniel O'Neil by name, stimuhowever. Daniel O'Neil by name, stimulated by the sense of wrong done him, got his courage up to a sufficient point to make a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, and as a result G. H. Smith and T. J. Gallagher were arrested last evening at their place of business in rooms 20 and 21, at No. 119 % West First street. These men, under the firm name of Smith & Gallagher, have been at work for several onths, as was attested by the long tunate as to have dealings with them, all of whom will now probably feel no. hesitation in coming forward to offer their testimony in sustaining the charges made.

A PERSISTENT OLD MAN.

The Queer Story Told by a Woman at the Police Station. Yesterday afternoon a young woman with an excited look on her countenance and much energy in her gait, walked up to the clerk's window at the police station and proceeded to pour out with emphatic gestures a long complaint. She said that there was a certain man about town who was continually dogging her footsteps wherever she went. This obnoxious party, she claimed, ran a lodging-house where she once boarded, and never lost an oppor-tunity of dunning her for money which he said she owed for room rent. On the streets, in the shops and wherever they chanced to meet, she said, he would ac cost her and demand that she pay the bill, until the mortification endured had become unbearable. She closed by announcing that she once had beaten him on the street with an umbrella, but would do something more desperate if relief could not be given her from the man's persecutions. Hardly had she concluded when the old man in question entered and began his side of the story. He, too, was somewhat excited, but swore that the money claimed was really due him. He meekly admitted having been "licked" on the street once by the young woman. When mildly told that the case was without the jurisdiction of the police, the two sallied again into the street, the young Chinamen, it seems , believe in organ ized labor, at least to a limited extent. The Ah Hing Lung Society is an organization among the Celestial laundrymen for the purpose of preserving unity in prices for washing and rates which they pay to their help.

In the laundry of Ah Hing there were

In going about this their method is not to boycott, but when they have ascertained that such a man is working outside their circle the spies go to hi nouse and carry away some article upon which he has been engaged. This they do not destroy or use, but simply keep to offer in evidence before their officers as to the fact that they have de tected a non-union laborer. Lou Foo found such a workman in the house of Ah Hing, and took away the calico garment in question. He was promptly arrested, on complaint of Hing, and Justice Seaman and a jury devoted much of the day in listening to lengthy arguments by counsel on both sides and the testimony of many witnesses.

The chang was made chiefly for convenience in calculation. Notwithstanding the fact that the bona fide circulation of The Times has within less than two years and a half, nearly doubled, the price of single-insertion 2-line Botices (12 words) has been REDUCED FROM 25 CENTS TO 15 CENTS each, and advertisers now pay nothing for the ordinary blanks at the end. On this plan, calculation by the advertiser himself is simple and easy, enabling him to send the exact amount of money necessary to secure the insertion of his advertisement for one, two, or any number of times. Postage stamps accepted by mail. Exact change given at the counter. Advertisements not accompanied by the full amount necessary to secure their insertion will be delayed or returned to the sender.

Important Opinion Presented by

He Decides That a Saloon License Cannot The Law on the Subject-Rou-

The question as to whether a saloon license issued by this board can be transferred under the ordinance of your honorable board and the law applicable thereto, and the law applicable thereto.

have the honor to say that, in my opinion, t cannot.
The ordinance provides: "No Meense shall be issued to any such person under this section, until after such persons shall have executed a joint and several bond." Section 10 provides that "the license so authorizing the party obtaining the same . . . to transact the business described in such license." Section 13 provides, "it shall be unlawful for any person to engage in or carry on anby business or exhibition in this ordinance, without first procuring a license therefor as in this orhibition in this ordinance, without first procuring a license therefor as in this ordinance provided." Section 17 provides for hearing of the application after the publication of notice thereof, and then provides that the board may order the ilcense to be issued, provided a protest be not filed against the issuance signed . by two-thirds of the qualified electors of the election precinct where the business is to be carried on. If such a protest is filed, the Board of Supervisors shall not allow the license to be issued.

filed, the Board of Supervisors shall not allow the license to be issued.

It does not follow, because the person to whom the original license was issued, was satisfactory to the people of the precinct, that the assignee of the license would be equally so. I can very readily see how the entire spirit and object of the law could be subverted if such transfers should be permitted. The object of the law is to put the retail traffic in responsible hands. Senator Stephen M. White.

In the whole history of California and in the history of all the other States

as well, probably, there has never been a counterpart of the Senatorial campaign which closed with the election of Stephen M. White yesterday. As many Republicans as Democrats will rejoice

over the result, and only a small faction of the Populites are disappointed.

There are both positive and negative reasons for this. In the first place, the people of California, irrespective of party, repose confidence in Mr. White as an able and an honorable man.

They are satisfied that he gains

this honor by clean methods, and as the reward of popular favor. This breaks a rather distastehigh office for years past. The people gratified with the result, because Mr.

White is a representative Southern Californian-without being anything broadest sense-and the gratification of our desires in the matter of securing a

Senator is all the more precious for

The negative reasons, which come in to determine the attitude of the Republicans on this question, are these: But little, if any, partisan advantage could be gained by sending a Republican instead of a Democrat, to represent us.

The administration is Democratic, the House of Representatives is Democratic, and the Senate is sure to be Democratic. If we had been able to send a Republican Senator to Washington, he would simply have acted as one of the minority, and his influence with the administration would have been

In a practical way, Mr. White, a representative of the dominant party, and one in hearty sympathy with the administration, can do far more for us than any Republican. He knows the requirements of California thoroughly, and, with his influence and ability, can stand between us and such Democratic tinkering of the tariff as might slaugh-

Mr. White will enter upon his public career as a Senator of the United States is 40 years old today, and will rank as one of the young men of the Senate.

He is as sound in body as he is in mind,

vouchsafed him, we see no reason why

Mr. White should not enjoy a long and useful public life, and acquire permanent national fame. In this spirit, THE

The Question of Harbors

Representative Holman, the famous

objector from Objectorstown, has, it appears, written a letter in response to one from some anxious and jealous San

Diegan, stating that there will be no appropriation for the harbor at San Pedro "at this session of Congress.

That is altogether probable. This Congress is nearing the end of its official life, and there is a large quantity of

will have to go over. The San Pedro bill may be among the number: but the measure will come up again and again

for recognition until it is pressed to successful issue, if our representatives in the two houses of Congress do their duty. The harbor must be built ultimately, for the necessities of commerce and the merits of the location justify its construction. The facts brought out in the able and impartial report of Col. Craighill's board will have weight with Congress,

which will take that report as its guide

instead of listening to private clamor

and the wild assertions of jealous rivals of Los Angeles. When this question is considered broadly, in the light of reason, common sense and the needs become more and more apparent. It is not a scheme to tear down, but to build up; and true statesmanship consists in building up. The proposed harbor for the city of Los Angeles is a public need, affecting a large area of valuable country-the very heart of fertile

Southern California. Its construction will injure no other port or section of needs of her own to be cared for by Congress. Her naval and commercial SENATOR WHITE: Accept our Republican congratulations, but don't tell any of the Populites about it.

THE death of a German immigrant or his way to St. Paul, supposably from cholera, comes as a timely warning of what may be looked for right along if immigration is not entirely suspended. Congress cannot pass that bill too soon.

Some inventor who must find little practical application for his talents has patented a home treadmill, gotten up on the plan of the inclined plane horse power, upon which a man can walk and walk until he gets up a sweat, but never go anywhere. It is worse than useless. Most men find life enough of a tread mill, anyhow, without magnifying the effect with any patent device.

THE attitude of some of the Populites in the Legislature on the election of White is puerile and ridiculous to the last degree. It was preposterous for them to think that, with their handful of representatives, they could throw choice to a Populite, or even dictate the result as between the two great parties. The charge that one of their own men has been corrupted, and that their Congressman-elect is in the deal, will only react upon their own organization. Nobody believes it, but the making of the charge will have a tendency to make two people's parties grow where only one grew before.

THE fact that the death rate of Lon don has recently almost doubled, going to over thirty in the thousand, is suffi cient attestation of the evil effects of the dense, black fog which hung over that city for six consecutive days not long ago. These visitations, which a in national affairs. He has already witty English writer once designated by the name "smog," represen dition of the atmosphere when it is saturated with moisture and charged with soot and the fumes of sulphur and carbonic acid gas from the chimneys and smokestacks of the great city. It has long been known that they are harbingers of disease. Not long ago a story writer of the grewsome school, published a sketch, in which he had all the people of London suffocated in one of these fogs, with the exception of one man, who made his escape by using a Yankee device for manufactur-

THE fact that the Louisiana Lottery is to be removed from the United State about the beginning of next year and will take up its abode in Honduras, is a matter for general congratulation. It scores a triumph for decency in this country, and forecasts the doom of every gambling enterprise of the kind may seek to flourish on purchased legislative favor. Of course the enterprise will expect to draw a large part of its revenues from the United public business on the calendar that States after its change of base, but we are badly off in our reckoning if its rev. enues do not steadily fall off after the change. If public sentiment would now assert itself to the extent of condemn ing American newspapers that advertise for the swindling concern, the money which it draws from this country would soon be reduced to a minimum, and the lottery would "go broke."

ANOTHER triumph may be scored for Los Angeles as a convention city in the calling of the Irrigation Congress to meet here next September. An effort is to be made to have this an international affair, and it will probably bring to our city from six hundred to a thou sand delegates. It is eminently fit that the congress should meet here, as Los of the southern coast, its merits will Angeles and San Bernardino counties are probably the best exemplars of irrigation in the United States, perhaps the est in the world. We can give the delegates an object lesson which will be of eat value to them, and our influence vill be felt in stimulating a movement that is to make many of the now semidesert portions of the West the most ductive lands in the United States. At the same time the assembling of this all parts. San Diego has interests and rogressive body will do us a great deal ural methods already introduced. stimulating further effort in the Engineers, which unqualifiedly recon mends the construction of a great harbor of refuge at San Pedro for commercial purposes. Let the people of San Deigo make the mistake of neglecting those interests, and spending their efforts in senseless and impotent assaults upon Los Angeles-which is no rival of San Diego-and they will see how bad a policy they have been pursuing. Men of sense in the lower city must and do recognize this truth. Even W. W. Bowers, the "inscrutable representative of San Diego in Congress, may yet 'tumble' to it."

The Nude in Life

It is said that a party of Vassar girls are preparing to produce in the original Greek the Antigone of Sophocles, a play which will call for the most faithadherence to ancient costumes Everybody who has paid any attention to Greek art knows what the feminine dress of that age was. It was made up of scant and flowing draperies, and the skirt (if it may be called a skirt) was divided on one side so as to display the full contour of the shapely leg up to the thigh. Many of the masters in es thetics of the present day maintain that the old Greek costume was the most artistic ever devised for womankind. Certainly it was calculated to display their personal charms to the utmost extent permissible within the lines of absolute grossness and revulsion. Of course the Vassar girls, if they produce this play, will not be so prudish as to deviate from correct models in costuming. They will be purists or nothing. They will put on tights, and each will display one of her legs to the thigh, and as much of her bust as she dares. ful line of brokerage, which has

That the young ladies of one of the foremost educational institutions in the land undertake this sort of an exhibition under the protecting ægis of the classics, is not much to be wondered at, considering the tendencies of the times. It is but an outcropping of the general craze which has recently swept over the country for young ladies to have themselves photographed in statuesque posings and drapings. The Greek costume is the one most affected in such pictures. The photographer who cannot make up a whole show case full of such statuesque photographs to put at the foot of his stairway is simply behind the times and outside the pale of polite patronage. Nor does this classical craze repre sent all the ambition of the time for displaying female loveliness by the possessors thereof. Not long ago a story went the rounds of the reprint columns of a man who visited a photographic friend-during one of his off hours," and the two fell to chatting about feminine fancies in pictures. The photographer took from his case a lot of photographs, which he arranged in two groups. "One of these," he said, "represents a number of the women of the town; the other is made up of ladies moving in the best society. Now, which is which?" The visitor scanned them closely and picked upon the lot of semi-undress (shall we say immodest?) pictures for those of the demi-monde. He was wrong.

But the craze has been carried still further. There has been a fancy among some of the aristocratic ladies of the great cities (thousands and thousands of miles from Los Angeles, of course,) to have photographs made of an arm, or a leg, or other portion of their anatomy, which they considered shapely and interesting, and even of their entire body in a practically nude condition. Every now and again a scandal pops up in city life about some photographer who has been caught taking nude pictures of women, and generally of aristocratic married womenthere is where the scandal comes in. These pictures, no doubt, are designed to be sacredly guarded within Breakey, Wade, Henderson, Caswell, the precincts of the boudoir, but somemade something of a mark in national the precincts of the boudoir, but sometimes they get away. A great many mysterious things happen in life. Sometimes one of them gets into the hands of a photogravure artist, which is very shocking, to say the least, and is accurately reproduced and published. It may in time furnish the catchy centerpiece in the placard of a great brewing company or of a patent medicine concern. There is a magazine which reaches THE TIMES regularly that bears upon its cover the gauzily-undraped figure of a woman posing as Liberty Enlightening the World. It is a photo gravure, and it bears unmistakable evidences of a photograph from life.

Now, we do not propose to preach a sermon to women of aristocratic tendencies and a predisposition for fads. If the mere statement of the case is not calculated to set them thinking, we have nothing further to say. grant all the divinity that attaches to the temale form, and we concede the point that there is but one more beautiful thing in the world than a beautiful woman well dressed. But, after all. isn't there a limit to that sort of thing in public which cannot be transcended without outraging the tenets of our civilization? Society says that both men and women shall be clothed when they appear in public, and this tradition has passed into law. We are rapidly overriding that law in following classic ideals of the nude in ar In fact, the nude in art is becoming the nude in life. It the women do not put a check to this sort of thing, nobody

THAT MYSTERIOUS BOAT.

San Francisco Discovers That She is for Catalina Trade.

San Francisco is still mystified over the new steamboat which is being built than ever before on one day in the new steamboat which is being built than ever before on one day in the new steamboat which is being built than ever before on one day in the new steamboat which is being built than ever before on one day in the new steamboat which is being built than ever before on one day in the new steamboat which is being built when the new steamboat which is being built when the new steamboat which is being built with the new steamboat which is being built with the new steamboat which is being built when the new steamboat which is being built with the new steamboat which is being built when the new steamboat which is being built for some unknown purpose. The Examiner of Tuesday says: Shears are being rigged on Folsom 2 to put in the boilers of the new steamer Rosalia, and a glimpse of her plans seems to af-ford a penetration of the cloud of mystery the builders have thrown about her future work. She is to have three water-tight compartments and two masts. Which con pliance with marine law is evidence that she is to be a sea-going boat, something that would not be imagined from her flat bottom. Her upper works will consist merely of a huge saloon and a promenade deck; there will be no staterooms, which is deck; there will be no staterooms, which is evidence that she will be confined to a day-light run. Shrewd speculators, in view of these facts, locate her scene of operations these facts, locate her scene of operations at the Santa Barbara Channel and her ownership as being vested in the Santa Fépeople. Catalina Island, the site of the people. Catalina Island, the site of the people of the following the projected Monte Carlo, is to be boomed as a summer and winter resort. The late manager of the Hollenbeck of Los Angeles has assumed charge of the big hotel on Catalina, and is making extensive preparations for a big summer trade. This is taken as another evidence of the Rosalia's destination, in which event her ports on the main land would be San Diego. Redondo Beach, Santa Monica and probably San Pedro, ally of which points would furnish a big excursion trams for Catalina, and at three of them the Santa Fé road has a terminus. The little steamer Hermoso has been in this trade-under the management of the Banning brothers, and has made money enough to warrant such an outlay as the builders of the Rosalia are making.

Hancock Banning, of the Banning Company, which owns Catalina and the only boats allowed to traffic with that island, smiled quite audibly when he read that item. The "Monte Carlo" at the Santa Barbara Channel and her own island, smiled quite audibly when he read that item. The "Monte Carlo" scheme which has been located all over this section in the various periods of its exploitation in the papers, is so worm-eaten as to need no comment. The Wilmington Transportation Company (otherwise the Bannings) have all the boats they need for Catalina business for several seasons, and they will not allow any other craft to land on the shores of Santa Catalina.

As the Santa Fé denies connection with the mysterious boat and the Bannings protest that she is not theirs, San Francisco can keep on guessing.

The police have received frequent complaints of late from persons who have been annoyed by the conduct of a gang of boys, who prowl about the streets evenings and raise disturbances upon every provocation. abeas Corpus Proceedings Before Judge Smith—The Case of Young Raymond of Pasadena-Federal Trial Jurors Impaneled.

In Department One yesterday morn ing Chris Jann of Pasadena appeared before Judge Smith and a jury for the second time for trial upon the charge of having committed rape upon the person of his child, Addie. He was repre sented by Calvin Edgerton, Esq., while Deputy District Attorney Dupuy appeared to conduct the prosecution.

The jurors selected to try the case were O. B. Allen, J. Q. Adams, J. H. Barnhill, L. C. Clark, O. Cheesebrough, E. W. Failor, A. F. Gilmore, A. Davis, D. W. Rowland, M. Fillmore, John Hardwick and T. Mesmer.

Only seven of these jurors were se cured during the morning session; but a special venire was issued at 11:30 for twenty more talesmen, and the remaining five were soon selected after lunch.
Before the introduction of any testimony Calvin Edgerton, Esq., entered a formal plea of "once in jeopardy and prior acquittal," and moved the Court to discharge his client, but the motion was denied. Counsel then asked the Court to order that the case be conducted with closed doors, as the details of the widenes to be introduced were of the evidence to be introduced were so purient as to be unfit for publication so purient as to be unfit for publication, and no good purpose would be subserved by their being published.

The courtroom was thereupon cleared and the child Addie called to the witness stand. Almost the first question asked her was as to her age, the purpose being that of showing that she was under the age of consent, but defendant's coursel objected on the ground that she could not testify to her own age, that being purely hearsay evidence.

matter was argued at some length, the jury being excused mean-while, and the Court took the matter under advisement and continued the case until this morning.

The defendant's counsel contends that as the child cannot testify to her own age, her mother cannot testify against her husband, her father will not, and the records are not forthcoming, it will be absolutely impossible for the prosecution to prove that the child is under the age of consent and the case cannot therefore stick.

HABEAS CORPUS PROCEEDINGS. Clayton Raymond, a youth about eighteen years of age, was taken before Judge Smith yesterday afternoon upon a writ of habeas corpus, and applied for his release from the custody of the Sheriff on the ground that he was ille-gally detained. His counsel claimed that he was arrested on January 18 last and taken before Justice H. E. Law-rence of Pasadena, who, without in-forming him of his rights or the charge against him, committed him to the County Jail for thirty days. That no entry was made on the docket of any judgment, and, as no offense was charged in the complaint, the Justice had exceeded his jurisdiction. The matter was partially heard and continned until this morning.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18 .-- [Special to THE TIMES.] The fruit market is dull, and choice apples and pears alone command much attention from buyers. Oranges of all kinds are very plentiful, with a weaker tendency in prices.

In the market for dairy produce only very fancy grades of butter show any firm-ness. Ordinary descriptions go at buyers' offers to great extent, with a heavy feeling at that. Death of an Estimable Woman After Several Weeks' Illness.

and Comment on Local Topic Personal Items of Interest and Brevities.

Mrs. E. Ward of New York city, mother of W. C. Stuart of this place, died after a lingering illness shortly after noon yesterat the residence of Mr. Stuart on day, at the residence of Mr. Stuart on South Los Robles avenue. Mrs. Ward arrived in Pasadena only a few weeks ago, in the contemplation of spending a pleasant winter in this delightful clime. Shortly after her arrival she was taken ill, and, notwithstanding the best medical attendance, death resulted yesterday. The remains will be taken East for interment. The sympathy of the community goes out to Mr. Stuart in his sad affliction.

NOTES ADE COMMENTS.

NOTES AND COMMENTS. While Pasadena is not likely to have a oom, nor does it want such a boom a spread over the town six years ago, the fact is undisputed that the community is in the initiatory stages of a highly prosperous etc. The past year has been satisfactory in every respect. Last winter was a prosperous one, but it was only the beginning of the good times that were to follow in the season of 1892-3. The busy architects and carpenters, the scores of new residences and business blocks, the activity of the real estate market, all attest to the spirit of growth and progress that pervades the present generation. Pasadena has entered upon an era of permanent prosperity, which is not dependent by any means upon outside patronage, but which is based on the intrinsic merits of the country, which will soon be the Mecca of travspread over the town six years ago, the try, which will soon be the Mecca of trav elers from all parts of the globe.

Never since the boom has Pasadena enjoyed such an influx of Eastern tourists as at the present time. This fact is forcibly emphasized by application as a surviver of the control of the c phasized by application at any of the tels or boarding-houses for accommoda notes or boarding nouses for accommona-tion. Everywhere the best rooms are found to be occupied, and if the applicant secures any desirable quarters, he or she is lucky. This kind of weather suits everybody, and especially the liverymen. Yesterday afternoon it was impossible to hire almost any kind of a rig, so great was the rush. The roads are in fine condition, which contributes largely to the pleasure of riding or driving.

The habit of fast driving on Colorado street, across Raymond and Fair Oaks avenues, should be strictly prohibited. An accident was narrowly averted yesterday afternoon at Raymond avenue, a team driven by a lady almost colliding with a heavy wagon. Occurrences of this kind happen almost daily, and greater care should be exercised by those driving.

The fact of the matter is that so far the rainfall has been fully up to the average, while those who have proved themselves to be competent weather prophets say that the amount of precipitation will be above the average this vear.

The recent cut in freight rates has caused most of the raisin producers to ship their goods, which they were holding in storage. The Land and Town Company still has a carload of its choicest, which it intends holding till better prices prevail.

Among those who have purchased land the present month we note the following:

Jacob Eldridge has purchased the Ogsbury place. John J. Irwin and others have purchased the San Pascual ranch, one of the finest in the county; consideration $21,000 cash. They will improve at once.

Complete-News Notes.

The whitewashing committee appointed by the Board of Supervisors has made its reports, completely exonerating Superintendent of the Poor Farm Estes and County Physician Crepin. Immediately after the processof whitewashing had been completed Estes resigned. Everyone knows that Estes did not want to resign. Then why did he do it? His resignation does not take effect until May 1. If he was a competent official, why was he made to resign at all? If he is not a competent official, why is he given until May 1 in which to feather his nest? The board immediately proceeded to select a successor to Estes. They were in something of a hurry, to be sure, in selecting a man three and one-half months ahead of time; but then there was a good Democrat who had to be provided for by a Republican board, and these things cannot be got away with any too quickly. Jim Duffy was selected as successor to Superintendent Estes at a salary of $100 per month, although another man, and a Republican, offered to do the work for $65 per month. The stain of the party ingrate does not yet attach to Supervisor Nason, for, to his credit be it said, he was the only Republican member of the board who voted for a Republican for superintendent. Supervisors Judson and Rainbow will perhaps find it easy to explain to the Republican constituency which elected them why they voted for a Democrat at $100 per month in preference to a Republican at $65 per month. Two old warhorses of the Republican party were candidates for the position of County Physician. Time has not dealt leniently with either of them. They both needed—a little assistance at this time. Either of them is eminently capable and fit; not a word could be said against either of them either personally or professionally. Both were passed by, and Crepin, the incumbent, who has never done anything to entitle him to the office, was selected in their staed. Verily the ways of a Republican board of supervisors are past finding out.

At that time the funds were in the California-National Bank, and, had the warrant been promptly called for, it would have been paid, but the City Treasurer asserts that the warrant was not called for for several days—and in the meantime the bank falled. Now the water company wants a new warrant, and has commenced mandamus proceedings against Treasurer Kennedy to compel him to draw one.

Still later they go out for us and gather was called to order at 2 o'clock by President Fowler. Hon. Richard Gird of Chino, who was recently appointed a director in place of S. Littlefield, resigned, was present and addressed the meeting on the subject of beet culture. He explained the best method of planting and cultivating at considerable length, and satisfactorily answered a number of questions that were put to him by farmers intending to plant beets.

After Mr. Gird's address, the secretary proceeded to call the stock roll, and while this was being gone over, Tim Carroll was called upon to express his views as to a water supply for the factory, and responded by making the following proposition: He agreed to give the factory the use of the water from his artesian well, flowing 648,000 gallons per day, provided he was to have the use of the water after it leaves the factory, and that the company purchased twenty acres of land from him adjoining the location of the well at $250 per acre, said twenty-acre tract to be used as the site for the factory. No action was taken on Mr. Carroll's proposition.

The call of the roll having been completed, it was shown that the necessary two-thirds of duly qualified stock was not represented, and another adjournment was had to January 31, by which time the Committee on Deeds and Abstracts gave assurance that it would have the full amount of stock substribed and duly deeded into the corporation. The first thing on the programme was the Burns electric light franchise, and it seems it is a hard pill for the Council to swallow. Gallup wanted it made non-assignable except by consent of the Council. At this juncture J. E. Packard stated he assignation except by consent of the Council. At this juncture J. E. Packard stated he thought there was money in lighting Pomona, and asked for a franchise for an electric light plant and gas plant, and wanted six months to start work and two years to complete it. It was amended to ninety days in which to begin work and one year to complete, and laid over till the next meeting. Prof. C. H. Baldwin, of the San Antonio Light and Power Company, also appeared before the Council and asked that it grant neither Mr. Packard's nor Mr. Burns's franchise for twelve months, and also asked that the piants be of at least seyenty-five electrical horse-power. His company wanted to raise $100,000 moge for putting in a 170 horse-power dynamo, during the present year, and it would be a hard thing to raise the money with another electric light franchise hanging over their heads, which meant nothing. They also wanted to establish an ice plant, and in other ways benefit the city.

Mr. Burns said that he thought the city needed opposition in lighting, and that he had made certain statements as to what

The ordinance was then numbered ninety-seven and while everybody held their breath the roll was called, and three high license men said "yes," and two anti's said "no," and that settled the matter and the people went

On Tuesday evening, as J. S. an advertisement of the San Antonio Company which stated that it would put in lights and do wiring at its own expense. He also stated that, while that company was charging Pomona 95 cents to $1.25 per light, it furnished the Same in San Bernardino for 45 cents.

Mr. Dole seemed to think there was no such difference made, and said the company was doing legitimate business in San Bernardino.

Judge Franklin Blades also, opposed the new company, saying that the plant we had was an honor to the city, and the Council ought to protect it. The franchise was then amended so as to make it seventy-five horse power, and non-assignable except by consent of the Council, and was then made a special order for next Monday evening at 7:30.

Pomona's celebrated ward ordinance was then introduced, and immediately there was a hush. The room was filled with interested spectators. Rolph vacated the chair and Gallup took his place. Rolph introduced the prohibitionists' amendment for the whole city to vote, but it would not go. The three high license men voted no, and that settled it. Calvin Easterly presented a number of petitions asking for the Council to have the whole city vote. He had about one hundred and seventy-five names and was confident two-thirds of the city wanted everybody to have a say. E. M. Keller said he did not think the petitions had been explained to the high license people, and he was confident they were ople, and he was confident t the exchange can fill his orders. A tax not to exceed 3 per cent, will be levied to defray the expenses of the exchange. The penalty for violating any of the rules of the exchange is set at $100 to $250 for each carload involved in the violation. Each member of the exchange to furnish a bond for $1000. big enough, and make trouble enough, to do more good.

That's just what Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do,—more good. Instead of weakening the system, they renovate it; instead of upeetting, they cleanse and regulate it—midly, gently, and naturally. They're the original Little Liver Pills—the smallest but most effective, purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and easiest to take. Only one little Pellet for a laxative—three for a cathartic. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attack, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured.

They're the cheapest pills you can buy, for they're quaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get. It's a plan peculiar to Dr. Pierce's medicines.

Jesting with the public is nlgh as bad as calling the ministry hard names. Heaping abuse on ministers because they can't see through the same spectacles is rank folly, yet some merchants think it's business-like to do so. Jesting with the public is equally fallacious.
